AMERICAN PARTY.

OFFICE OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE, FRANKFORT, DEC. 15, 1855.

The Subordinate Councils are hereby notified that the State Grand Council will hold its next session in the city of Frankfort, on the fourth Wednesday in January, 1856, at which time delegates to the National Grand Council and the National Convention will be elected.

P. SWIGERT, Chairman Ex. Com.

We are requested to state that the Governor's house will be opened for the reception of company on Monday evening next, from 8 until 11 o'clock; and on every Monday evening during the session of the Legislature, during the same hours.

Archbishop Kenrick, Mr. Brownson, and the Mayville Express.

The editor of the Mayville Express charged us with relating a stereotype slander, when we alleged that Brownson, under the endorsement of the Catholic Bishops of the country, had claimed for the Pope of Rome civil supremacy—the right to decide whether a civil government is fit to be obeyed or not, and the right and power of releasing the conscience of the citizen from the obligation of allegiance to his prince or country.

By the quotations which we made yesterday, we did enough, perhaps, not only to vindicate the truth of our allegation, but to expose the deception of the Archbishop's attempt to explain away the prelatial endorsement of Brownson and his Review. But we are not done with any of these personages yet. We intend to leave no ground for mistake as to their positions or our own. We intend to thrust the charge of "caulimonia" down our accuser's own throat, and leave him no escape from the guilt of willful slander, but an escape behind the most shameful ignorance.

We intend, by further and more emphatic quotations, to show what Brownson did teach, and that his teachings had the sanction of the Catholic Bishops of Boston before they were published, and the endorsement and approbation of the whole bench of Bishops and Archbishops, and even of the Pope himself, afterwards.

We intend to expose, still further than we have already exposed, the Jesuitical deception of Archbishop Kenrick in his attempt to deny or explain away the endorsement of Brownson which he himself penned, and himself and twenty-four other Bishops and Archbishops signed; and to hold up to public contempt the unscrupulous partisan, who, for the sake of party advantage, joins in this deception, denies facts as incontestable as truth itself, and utters and defends doctrines as incompatible with civil liberty as darkness with light.

First, let us give a few more examples of Brownson's teachings:

"We do not advocate—far from it—the notion that the church must administer the civil government; what we advocate is her supremacy as the teacher and guardian of the law of God—as the supreme court, which must be recognized and submitted to as such by the State, and whose decisions cannot be disregarded, whose prerogatives cannot be abridged or usurped by any power on earth, without rebellion against the Divine Majesty, and rebellion against his rights. As Christians, we must insist on this supremacy; as Catholics, it is not only our duty, but our glorious privilege, to assert it, and to understand and practice our religion as God himself, through his own chosen organ, promulgates and expounds it."

The above is from Brownson's article upon "Authority and Liberty," published in April, 1849—just one month before the bench of Catholic Bishops and Archbishops endorsed him as an able and intrepid advocate of the Catholic faith.

The same doctrine is more distinctly set forth by Mr. Brownson in the following passage in an article in his Review for January, 1853:

"We only ask our readers to bear in mind, that the church is not herself the civil authority, and that, though she possesses the temporal authority in radio, she ordinarily governs the temporal sovereignty. She bears by divine right both swords, but she exercises the temporal sword by the hand of the prince or magistrate. The temporal sovereign holds it subject to her order, to be exercised in her service, under her direction. This is the normal order, and it is only an immanently fear of God, or an undue desire to please secular governments, that has ever led any intelligent Christian to concede the contrary. That the church has been able to exercise her rightful supremacy, and that secular governments have in general shown themselves to be her obedient children, we are far from pretending; but we owe it to her and to them to assert her rights and their duties, and perhaps in doing so we may aid in preparing a better future, and do something to enable her to check the reign of political atheism, and to save society, now threatened at once by both despotism and anarchy, from utter dissolution."

Again in January, 1854, Mr. Brownson declares:

"We believe, we have been forced to believe, after the fullest investigation we have been able to make of the subject, the direct temporal authority of the Pope as Vicar of Jesus Christ on earth. We do not put this forth as a Catholic dogma, nor have we ever insisted upon it in our pages, but we do believe Catholic dogma requires us to assert, at least, the indirect power contended for by Bellarmine and Suarez, unless we would forego our logic."

This "indirect power" we understand to be that spoken of in the preceding extract, where it is said the temporal sovereign yields the sword of temporal power subject to the order of the church, in her service, and under her direction.

And now to exhibit Mr. Brownson's views of the power of the Pope in temporal affairs, in their mildest aspect, we beg to present an extract from a letter written by him in June last to Hiram J. Davis, Esq., of Warehous, North Carolina—a letter written to be used on the stump by anti-American orators, and presenting, of course, the mildest possible view of the doctrine he advocates. Hear him:

"The church, following the Holy Scriptures, makes civil allegiance a religious duty, and says with Saint Paul, Romans xiii, 1-2, 'Let every soul be subject to the higher powers, for there is no power but from God. Therefore he that resisteth the power resisteth the ordinance of God, and they that resist, purchase damnation to themselves.' Here you see I am forbidden by the law of God to resist the power, and commanded, on peril of damnation, to obey. There is my conscience bound to obedience, and my conscience as a Catholic can be released only by a declaration of my church, as the divinely appointed rector of conscience, that the prince of tyranny and oppression has forfeited his right, fallen from his dignity, and ceased to reign. What I claim for the Pope, as visible head of the church, is the power to release my conscience from this religious bond, and to place me at liberty to resist the prince become a tyrant. This is all I understand by the depositing power.

"The Pope is the proper authority to decide for us whether the Constitution of this country is or is not repugnant to the laws of God."

We have no room to stop here for comment. Nor is any comment needed. The reader who does not see in these naked declarations the claim of a power for the church that is dangerous to the State, would hardly see it by aid of any commentary we could make.

Let us now see how far the Catholic church is responsible for Mr. Brownson's teachings. We need not repeat the Bishops' endorsement which we copied yesterday, and which was given after, and not before, Mr. Brownson had asserted and insisted, with great earnestness and power of language, that the church was the supreme ruling and judging power to which all governments are subject, and to which they must conform. But we have further evidence than this of the responsibility of the church for Mr. Brownson's teachings. In his April No. for 1853, he said:

"We have no right to publish a single word on religious and ecclesiastical matters without the permission of our ordinary, and even with that permission we should never publish anything without the supervision of our who has authority to teach."

The "ordinary" is the Bishop of the diocese in which he lives—viz: The Bishop of Boston; and there is distinct evidence that all his articles undergo the supervision of a Catholic Bishop or other clergy, before they are published.

In January, 1854, he defends the doctrines he has taught, and says: "These were the principles prescribed for our guidance when we commenced this Review as a Catholic Review." In October of the same year, speaking of his position as editor of the Review, he says:

"We felt our incompetency, but we felt that we had been placed by legitimate authority in the position we held, and we looked for help to the Bishop of Boston, who had been appointed by the Pope of Rome, and his clergy treated us with great indulgence, and took unfeigned pains to instruct us, and to aid us to think and speak as Catholics, and we got on perhaps as well as could have been reasonably expected."

He then refers to the commendation of the Bishops and Archbishops, which we have already published, of which Archbishop Kenrick falsified the date, and attempts to explain away the meaning; but of which Mr. Brownson declares, "As yet no Bishop in the country has signified to us the withdrawal of the approbation heretofore given."

But Mr. Brownson has not only the sanction of Catholic Bishops, but the sanction of the Pope himself. In December, 1853, Mr. Brownson tells us that he sent a set of the volumes of his Review to the Pope, by the hand of the Bishop of Boston. The "Holy Father" returned the following letter:

"Beloved son, health and apostolic benediction. One venerable brother John, Bishop of Boston, brought to us your letter of the 20th of last December, in which you offered us several works written by you. He spoke to us with much praise of those same books of yours, and therefore we are in a greater degree rejoiced and consoled by your sentiment of truly filial devotion, obedience, and piety towards us, and this Holy See, which your letters express throughout. With our suppliant vows and prayers we beseech God of Mercies and Father of lights that with his celestial protection he may cherish and guard these sentiments, which we trust you will always preserve. And as a token of our great benediction, and as a pledge of our gratitude to you for the service you have done us, we add our apostolic benediction, which we lovingly impart, with the pointed faith of affection of our paternal heart, to you yourself, beloved son, and to your whole family."

"Given at St. Peter's St. Rome, on the 20th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1854, and the eighth year of our Pontificate."

Sign'd. Pius IX. Pope.

"This is indeed," says Mr. Brownson, "no formal approbation of our Review, and no such approbation was deserved or expected; but it is more than a simple acknowledgment of the reception of the volumes and accompanying letter."

And now, having occupied as much space as we can now well spare for this subject, we defer the further discussion of it to another day.

IRISH GUARDS AT THE PRESIDENT'S LEVEE.—The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Times has the following in his description of the President's Levee, on New Year's day:

"At twelve o'clock, the doors were thrown open to everybody. Ladies and gentlemen, young and old, pressed forward in a long procession through the main ante-room to a small parlor adjoining the large 'East Room.' What attracted the astonishment of many and the indignation of a few, was the circumstance that the procession was obliged to pass through two lines of guards or police, namely Irish, between the side door and the ante-room entrance. Several of these fellows had the most strongly marked and repulsive features, and each wore a badge of authority. Under the circumstances, an attendant or two was necessary to prevent collision, and the character and number of the police paraded yesterday was an insult to every American citizen. It was absolutely humiliating to walk through the two lines of Irishmen into the ante-room. There was an expression of malicious triumph on each of those countenances which did not escape remark."

"To-day the State Democratic anti-American Sag Nicht Convention assembled in the Hall of the House of Representatives. Both Houses yesterday adjourned until to-morrow to give the members who belong to the party a fair chance to mingle with their political brethren as well as to yield the hall of the House as a place of meeting."

AND NO SPEAKER YET.—There was no speaker elected yesterday at Washington. The same dead lock of affairs seems to hold fast still.

FOREIGN NEWS.—We are indebted to the polite Operator of the House Line for the foreign news which we publish this morning. It gives some hope of peace; and a gentleman who came up from Louisville last night informed us that the understanding there was that peace had actually been concluded; but we see nothing in the news we have received to justify any such conclusion.

SATURDAY NIGHT.—Saturday night a negro, seen in the employ of belonging to Wm. Carson, was dangerously if not fatally stabbed by another negro, in an alley in the alley between Fourth and Fifth and Jefferson and Market streets. The rascal who committed the deed escaped. He is the property of Col. Caldwell.—Our Cor.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.

House.—Mr. Boyce made a personal explanation. He thought, and has frequently expressed the opinion, that circumstances are at work which are almost irresistibly hurrying us to destruction.

With the most profound regret he saw a great party formed in the North, based on the single idea of hostility to the institutions of the South, which party holds that freedom is national and slavery sectional. The Constitution recognized slavery, conciliation and compromise; but if that party shall obtain possession of the government, but thought disunion would be the result. He did not desire this. God forbid.

Mr. Allison replied and said he had no disposition to war with slavery where it already existed, but was opposed to a further extension.

The House then proceeded to vote for Speaker, when the ninety-first ballot resulted as follows: Banks 104; Fuller 34; Richardson 73; Pennington 6; Porter, Orr and Williams each 1. Necessary for a choice 111.

Mr. Allen appealed to the Massachusetts men to surrender their personal preferences, which stand in the way of electing a great unit, and unite on Mr. Lettier, whom he eulogized as eminently fitted for the Speakership.

Mr. Knowlton replied that it was not Massachusetts alone asking for the election of Mr. Banks, but the great spirit of Freedom had laid her hands upon him. He said Mr. Dunn and a few other gentlemen elected on the anti-Nebraska issue, would, if they would, relieve the House from its entanglement.

Jones, of Tenn., and Houston regarded Mr. Dunn's resolution declaring Mr. Lettier, as nothing more than a nomination, and deemed the right of members to nominate, and required them to vote thereon.

The resolution was then laid on the table—yeas 104, nays 30.

Mr. Underwood offered a resolution which, should be necessary in an election; that the first gentleman named on the list of members be put in nomination, and failing to receive a majority of a quorum the rest to be voted for, and so on till an election is effected. This was tabled.

The House then proceeded to the 92d ballot, which resulted as follows: Banks 104; Fuller 34; Richardson 73; Pennington 6; Porter, Orr and Williams, each one.

The House then adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.

House.—Mr. Etheridge said the action of the House demonstrated two propositions: First, that the gentlemen voted for have enthusiastic friends; and secondly, that if either is elected he will not decline the honor of the chair. He did not believe that any successful candidate would so conduct himself as to occasion just reprehension of his official conduct. In the present condition of the public mind, it would be injurious to the country to elect a Speaker one who is the embodiment of extreme sentiments of either section; and he proposed, as a compromise, Mr. Millson, of Virginia, who was opposed to the alien suffrage feature in the Nebraska bill; and voted against its passage, and was not in the Democratic caucus which nominated Richardson. He appealed to moderate and conservative men to assist him in putting an end to this strife.

Mr. Brown could not agree with Mr. Etheridge, to descend from their exalted position and pursue the course suggested. Let all who were elected on the paramount issue of Americanism, come together and agree upon a candidate, or let the House adopt the resolution he would offer, namely: That the friends and supporters of the prominent candidate for Speakership, be requested to withdraw their names from the further action of the House, and that the members representing the different parties in the House meet each party appointing a committee of five, with a view to selecting a compromise candidate for Speaker.

Mr. Millson expressed surprise at the announcement of his name in that connection, and requested Mr. Etheridge to withdraw the nomination.

Mr. Stephens opposed Mr. Brown's resolution as wholly impracticable.

Mr. Etheridge finally withdrew his motion. A long debate on the merits of the several parties, particularly Americanism, was had, and Mr. Brown's resolution was then laid on the table.

The House then voted twice on Speaker, the last ballot standing as follows: Banks, 98; Richardson, 79; Fuller, 34; Pennington, 10. Whole number of votes, 201. Necessary to a choice, 105. The House then adjourned.

Arrival of the Arago.

New York, Jan. 7, M.

The steamship Arago has arrived with dates from London of December 18th.

The London Daily News affirms that Sweden has ratified a treaty with England and France.

The allied powers are to guarantee the territorial integrity of Sweden, and the latter engages not to alienate any part of her territory to Russia.

Rumors of peace were still abundant in France and England.

Congressman Esterhazy left Vienna for St. Petersburg on the 16th ult., with important despatches containing propositions for a pacification. It was stated that if the Czar refuses to accept them Austria will withdraw her Ambassador from St. Petersburg.

Both the London Times and the News expressed strong doubts of the acceptance of the propositions by the Czar.

The instructions given to Esterhazy are to return immediately in the event of the Czar's refusal to negotiate.

The difficulty which existed between the English and French governments relative to the conditions on which peace should be made have been arranged through the efforts of the King of Sardinia.

The surrender of Kars to the Russians is confirmed.

Nine Pashas, Gen. Williams, and sixteen thousand troops, were taken prisoners.

Among the munitions of war captured were 120 field pieces, some of which are very heavy guns.

The Russian General, Behoutoff, has established his headquarters at Kutai, and intends shortly to resume his offensive operations against Anikla and Kade.

His army is abundantly supplied with provisions for the Armenians.

The delles between Kars and Ezeroum are held by the Russians.

Affairs in the Crimea were quiet.

Great preparations continued to be made for augmenting the British fleet in anticipation of operations in the spring.

Outcasts had been made in Sweden for the French fleet and the accompanying army.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 5.

Nine persons, all Irish, were arrested by the U. S. Marshal last night, charged with violating the neutrality laws. They were held to bail this morning, in the sum of one thousand dollars each, to appear on Monday next. The general impression is, that they are acting in concert with parties in New York and elsewhere, contemplating a descent upon Ireland.

COURT OF APPEALS.

CAUSES DECIDED.

McDonald v. Stauffer, Bath; affirmed.

Convention of Agriculturalists.

The subject of agriculturalists has been sent to prominent farmers in all parts of the State; and we trust it will meet with such a response as will insure a large convention, and the ultimate attainment of the important object proposed:

LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY, January 5th, 1856.

DEAR SIR:—The suffering condition of a great and common cause must be our apology for addressing you on this present occasion.

We are Brother Agriculturalists, and rely upon our profession for personal respectability and for pecuniary profit. We have a common country, whose prosperity or decline is but the measure of our own. Our common interests, and the enlightened age, are making giant strides in every department of agricultural improvement, and we too must bring to our assistance every aid of industry, intelligence, and enterprise, or sink ignominiously in the rear.

The agriculture of other States has experienced, in many years, the most genial impulses and most effective aid from the action of enlarged and powerful State organizations, the funds of which are supplied, chiefly or in part, from the public treasuries of those States. But in Kentucky, the oldest Western State, the Farmer and Mechanic have been left to their own individual exertions, aided, in some cases, by small and local associations only. To relieve ourselves from this disadvantage, and to place us on equal ground in the field of improvement, is at present our aim.

For this object, replete with personal advantage and with comprehensive patriotism, we in-volve your aid. We ask your co-operation by your pen and your tongue, and by your high character and extensive popularity. Especially we invite and desire you to meet with us, in Frankfort, on the third Wednesday in the month of January, when, by our united energies, we will present to the Legislature the form of a charter for a State Society, which shall dispense the bounty of the State with blessings to all, and without partiality to any.

We trust that nothing but the most imperious necessity will prevent your assembling with a very large number of your Agricultural Brethren at Lexington, on the occasion proposed.

R. W. SCOTT, of Frankfort.

G. KINNAIRD, of Fayette.

WM. R. DUNCAN, of Clarke.

R. A. ALEXANDER, of Woodford, Committee.

Pinkerton's Acute Pills.

A certain and speedy cure for Ague and Fever, and Chills and Every ailment of the digestive system. The proprietor, in offering this medicine to the public, does so with the fullest confidence in its efficacy, and it needs but a trial to convince any and all persons of its value as a remedy. It requires no preparation of the system, and is not followed by any of the usual effects of the disease, but at the same time restores the general health of the system. The combination is among the simplest medicines known to the profession, and is entirely safe as a popular remedy. It has been used in a great number of cases during the last three months, by men, women, and children, and has in every instance been found to effect a permanent cure. This gives great superiority over the other remedies in use, for while they only arrest the disease for a time, this medicine drives it entirely from the system. Let those suffering from the disease give it a trial, and they will soon find their testimony with many others in proof of its happy effect.

HENRY H. GRANT, C. S.

DURHAM CATTLE.

FOR twenty years I have been breeding these valuable animals, by Bull Book and Cattle Register showing my unbroken record all the time. Nearly two dozen silver premiums have been awarded to my stock at various exhibitions. Besides having always owned or raised the best of the breed, I have recently sold to John O'Grady, Esq., of Glasgow, Glasgow, Scotland, a pair of my best bulls, and have produced of all except the two last, whose calves have yet to come. So you may be sure I still have a fine lot of young bulls and heifers of the best blood, color, form and milking qualities.

The calves have been several times published, and complete ones will be given to purchasers or other applicants.

FINE HOGS.

To my excellent lot of Wolara Irish White Berkshire Hogs I have lately introduced a pair of the same cross, which look promising in Paris and Louisville at the Fairs in 1854. I have also a fine young sow by a premium Irish Boar, out of an imported sow also four sows and a young lot out of the sow which sold for $100 at the Fairs.

I have for sale some excellent males and females, of suitable size for shipment, and every thing sound.

"Imported Kentucky Sheep."

This is a new variety, produced by judicious crossing of Bucks of all the best imported varieties, originally or selected native ones.

Experience, especially during the past season, has proven they are peculiarly adapted to the climate, soil, food and purposes of the West and South.

They are large, healthy, thrifty and prolific, and yield heavy fleeces of medium quality. The numerous fleeces, superior, sixteen wethers of this breed were sold by me at $200.00. I have a few young Bucks and ewes for sale.

Strayed or Stolen.

THOMAS, Horse's pasture, on the Versailles and Frankfort turnpike, on Thursday night 25th December, there escaped or was stolen a DARK BROWN HORSE fifteen hands high, three years old last spring without any white about him; black eyes and mane; the tail long and white and called switch. He was in rather poor order, having been recently cured of Bute, and will be easily known and identified by the scar. He is slightly cross-fallen, and the scar is on the right side of his forehead, and the webbers and almost directly under the mane, which is not fully grown out, having been cut away from the wound while he was open. Any person who can give me information as to which I shall be enabled to recover my horse, shall be liberally rewarded. A letter directed to Versailles, or to Thomas's Woodford county, will reach me.
